Instructors pass fluency evaluations

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

The more than 2,000 faculty members and graduate assistants whose English fluency was evaluated because of the new State Oral English Proficiency Law have passed, a University official said.

Ernest Lewis, vice president of Academic Affairs, said this figure includes about 1,200 faculty members and about 800 graduate assistants from all SIU-C colleges, excluding the School of Medicine.

The law took effect this fall in all higher education institutions in Illinois. It requires that every faculty member or graduate assistant teaching a class be assessed by the SIU Board of Trustees.

At SIU-C, the assessment is done by the department chair, who must complete forms to certify that all instructors are fluent in English, Elaine Alden of the Faculty Senate said.

Lewis said that if the department chair does not certify an instructor, a committee of three people is appointed to review the instructor's proficiency in English.

The committee consists of a member of the Linguistics staff of the Center for English as a Second Language, a faculty member from the college of the instructor being reviewed and an undergraduate student recommended by the USO president.

This committee would recommend ways to improve the instructor's fluency. The instructor may then be assigned to research and service activities instead of teaching.

However, if the instructor does not accept the verdict of the committee, the decision may be appealed to a special committee of the Faculty Senate, the Executive Committee. The decision of the Executive Committee is final.

Alden said the new law is "intended to assure that instruction is delivered and understood."

"It's a different feeling," she said, "something we've always assumed, and now it's being evaluated."

The bill was approved by the General Assembly in the spring 1986 sessions. Gov. James R. Thompson vetoed it in September 1986, but the veto was overridden in the fall by the General Assembly.

Stricter requirements for entering freshman designated for 1990

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

University admissions representatives will meet with high school advisement counselors throughout the state this month to inform the counselors of stricter admissions requirements that will be implemented at SIU-C in 1990.

The meetings are intended to assure that prospective students are informed of the requirements they must fulfill to be admitted to SIU-C, Jerre Pfaff, associate director of Admissions and Records, said Monday.

Beginning in the summer of 1990, freshmen entering SIU-C must have taken high school courses equivalent to three years of English; three years of mathematics; two years of laboratory sciences; two years of social studies; and one year of either art, music, a foreign language or vocational education. Currently, entering freshmen need only to have scored 19 or above on their ACT, or have an ACT score of 15 and rank in the upper half of their high school classes.

The tougher admissions standards were approved by the chancellor's office in June, Pfaff said. However, they are only interim measures. Even tougher admissions requirements will go into effect in 1993. Those requirements — ordered by

Iranian speedboats attack Kuwaiti vessel

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian speedboats Monday attacked a Kuwaiti freighter in the Persian Gulf for the first time since the United States extended naval protection to ships in the emirate's fleet.

The attack, in retaliation for Iraqi air strikes on Iranian shipping, occurred at least 200 miles from where a U.S. naval convoy was escorting re-flagged Kuwaiti tankers in the gulf. The Kuwaiti vessel that came under attack, a container ship, was not one of those put under the U.S. flag to gain American protection.

Meanwhile, Iraq, which resumed the "tanker war" in the gulf region Saturday, said Monday that it had struck two Iranian ships in the past 24 hours.

Washington renewed appeals to Iraq to halt attacks on Iranian shipping in the gulf and pressed ahead with diplomatic efforts to win sanctions against Iran.

State Department spokeswoman Phyllis Oakley said the United States is "actively consulting with other U.N. Security Council members" on a "resolution with teeth" that would support a general cease-fire in the 7-year war between Iran and Iraq.

She said the timing of Iraq's

State police double patrols at Du Quoin Fair

By Tracy Bartoni
Staff Writer

More than twice the number of Illinois state police patrol officers have been called in for duty during this year's Du Quoin State Fair celebration.

A total of 152 Illinois state police officers will be on hand to make sure everything runs smoothly at the fair, Sgt. Adin Mitchell, of the Illinois State Police District 13, said. Mitchell is special projects officer for the fair and fair coordinator for the district.

From Friday, when the fair opened, to Monday afternoon 103,400 people had attended the events, a fair spokesperson said.

Mitchell said 128 uniformed patrol officers, 16 plainclothes officers from the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation and eight telecommunications are covering the event.

Mitchell said the state police have four basic responsibilities while working at the fair.

"There is always a chance of an emergency situation with that large a crowd," Mitchell said. He said the state police will work closely with the city on emergency services.

The state police are working together with other law enforcement agencies, including DCI, the Perry County Sheriff's Department, Du Quoin city police and the Department of Conservation. Mitchell said the police have had no major problems so far.

"Our primary concern is underage drinking. Problems are limited to this function because it's a family event," he said.

"Our main concern is to ensure the safety of everyone," Mitchell said.

Philippine revolutionaries form provisional state

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Renegade soldiers Monday proclaimed a provisional revolutionary government under a ruling junta of junior officers defeated in last week's coup bid, but the Philippine government vowed no leniency. Soldiers loyal to President Corazon Aquino moved to reinforce the capital with tanks and crack jungle fighters in case of any new attack. A statement issued from an undisclosed place described as the "central Luzon headquarters" north of Manila labeled the government leaders as "traitors" and called for presidential elections.

Solidarity supporters arrested at monument

GDANSK, Poland (UPI) — Police broke up a pro-Solidarity demonstration and arrested 10 dissidents Monday as the outlawed union's founder Lech Walesa, marking the movement's seventh anniversary, laid a wreath at a workers' monument. Walesa sang the national anthem with a crowd of 1,500 at the monument in front of the Lenin Shipyard. Police were in the area, but they did nothing to stop the ceremony. The three 30-year-high crosses were built in memory of more than 50 people killed by police during a 1970 revolt in the city on the Baltic coast.

S. Korean negotiators near draft constitution

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Negotiators for ruling and opposition parties Monday settled issues that had bogged down talks on a new constitution and formed a 10-member parliamentary group to draw up a draft document. The agreement cleared the way for Roh Tae-woo, head of the government party, and Kim Young-sam, leader of the major opposition party, to meet later this week and approve a draft constitution, spokesmen said.

Iraq attacks Iranian oil site; oil prices climb

Oil prices surged on the New York Mercantile Exchange Monday as Iraq stepped up renewed attacks on Iranian oil sites and shipping in the Persian Gulf. Analysts expected oil prices to rise sharply after Iraq resumed raids on Iranian shipping Saturday, breaking a 45-day lull in the so-called tanker war in the gulf between the two warring OPEC nations. The Iraqi attacks were the first since the United Nations Security Council passed a resolution July 20 calling for an immediate ceasefire in the nearly 7-year-old Iraq-Iran war.

Auto workers choose Ford as strike target

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union Monday picked Ford Motor Co. over General Motors Corp. as its strike target in case current contract negotiations should fail, but UAW President Owen Bieber said he was confident that — with hard work — a walkout could be avoided. The union's 23-member executive board decided to focus on the No. 2 automaker after a three-hour meeting in suburban Detroit. Separate contracts covering 479,000 workers at Ford and General Motors expire at 11:59 p.m. EDT Sept. 14.

Justice officials nix independent counsel law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department, for the first time dealing a critical blow to the independent counsel law, told a federal appeals court Monday the statute is unconstitutional and ought to be struck down. Acting Attorney General Arnold Burns announced. Burns, revealing that the department had opposed the law in a federal appeals court case involving an independent counsel investigation of the 1983 Environmental Protection Agency scandal, concluded "the independent counsel provisions of the ethics act are unconstitutional."

Civil Liberties Union snubs Bork nomination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union broke its 36-year tradition of neutrality on Supreme Court nominees Monday and said it would oppose the elevation of federal appeals Judge Robert Bork to the high court. The group warned the ordinary rights of Americans would be threatened by Bork and vowed to wage a nationwide campaign to block the confirmation of President Reagan's "radical" nominee to the court.

Minimum wage settlement at all time high

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 28,000 former workers at more than 200 service stations in 28 states may pocket up to $6.8 million in the nation's largest minimum wage and overtime settlement with a private firm, the government said Monday. The Labor Department demanded payment of $12.8 million but agreed to settle the 10-year case, complicated by bankruptcy proceedings, for $6.8 million, department officials said.

Gray set to speak at forum

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

U.S. Rep. Ken Gray, D-Ill., will discuss "pork barrel politics" and national issues at 7 tonight in the Law School auditorium.

Gray, a native of West Frankfort, has been dubbed the "Prince of Pork" for bringing federal funds for a number of public works projects to Southern Illinois. The speech, sponsored by the Emeritus College, is a free public affairs forum, Richard Darby, Gray's press aide, said.

Gray refers to the public works projects as "priming the pump."

"Federal funds are the primer, and once the pump is primed, it will pump on its own," Darby said.

Gray sponsored the Interstate Highway Act and he supports construction of a four-lane highway between Carbondale and St. Louis.

Gray has served 23 years in the House. He was first elected in 1955 and served until 1975. Gray was voted back into office in 1984.

Following Gray's speech, Charles Klasek, associate vice president for academic affairs; John Jackson, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences; J.C. Garavalia, director of Regional Research and Services; and Carbondale Mayor Neil Dillard will make remarks.

The discussion will end with a question and answer session.

Recycling program stymied by space

By Mary Wisniewski
Staff Writer

Newspaper recycling on campus will start again as soon as Pollution Control can find a market for the papers, said Pollution Control representative Greg Searle.

"We'd like to get it started again by mid-semester," Searle said.

The University's recycling program ended last year. Searle said the market price for recycled newspapers had bottomed out two years ago, and SIU-C had run out of storage space for all the newspaper, computer paper, and computer cards it had saved.

"The storage trailers were literally bursting at the seams," Searle said.

Searle said the market price for recycled paper was up again this year, and that Pollution Control was searching for a recycling firm that would provide storage space for the school.

Searle said some recyclers will deliver a semi-trailer to a newspaper pick-up location, leave the trailer to be filled up, and then reload the trailer onto a semi-truck to deliver it back to the recycling factory.

"Storage space is our biggest problem," said Searle. "We can't emphasize that enough."

According to a survey taken by Pollution Control in the summer, student interest in recycling is high. Searle said that 98 percent of those students surveyed said they thought SIU-C should recycle paper, and 35 percent said they would volunteer help collecting paper into bins.

Searle said the University does not contribute any money to newspaper recycling, but it did contribute the old house trailers that were used for newspaper storage before they burst apart.

"We started out in the red," he said of the former recycling program. "After a while we were actually making a profit off the sale of papers."

Searle said Pollution Control might solicit donations from SIU alumnae to construct a pole barn for paper storage.

Searle, a graduate student in biology, said he believes that recycling is important because the world is running out of raw resources.

"I think we should do it (recycling) as a preventative measure," Searle said.

He said the Northeastern states are already so short on landfill space that recycling is mandatory in New Jersey and near that stage in Rhode Island and New York.

The following guidelines were drafted by a committee comprised of representatives of student organizations, University departments, and the USO and GPSC. These guidelines will be in effect during the Fall of 1987. Please read them carefully. Your cooperation in planning for a safe and enjoyable football season will be appreciated.

GUIDELINES REGARDING ALCOHOL POLICY/FOOTBALL GAMES

The University Alcohol Policy prohibits the possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages on campus unless an exception is specifically authorized. As done by many colleges and universities for football games, the University has permitted what is known as "tailgate" activities in designated areas, intended to give persons attending football games the opportunity to arrive early, park and have their own food and beverages (including alcoholic beverages if they wish) prior to the game. Since these events are permitted through exception to the University Alcohol Policy, the following guidelines have been formulated and will be in effect for your health and safety throughout the football season:

1. Possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages within the intent described above will be permitted only during the period from three hours prior to the kickoff up to fifteen minutes prior to game time on Saturdays of home football games and during the half-time of those games in the following areas:

- a) Parking Lot 13, directly west of the stadium;
- b) Lot 13A, southwest of the stadium;
- c) Lots 10A and 10B, north of the stadium;
- d) Lots 53 and 43, near the Physical Plant;
- e) The Free Forum Area (individual servings only).

Consumption of alcoholic beverages on campus other than at the times and locations specified is prohibited by the University Alcohol Policy, unless specifically authorized.

2. The above limited exception applies only to those persons of legal drinking age (21 years of age or older). Underage possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages in any public place is illegal. Violators will be subject to prosecution.

3. The sale or delivery of alcoholic beverages, direct or indirect, is strictly prohibited. (sale of other items are permitted only if approved in advance and meet the other requirements of the University Policy of Solicitation.)

4. It is recommended that containers be limited to individual servings, but kegs will be permitted, except in the Free Forum Area, subject to provisions of number one above. Only individual servings will be permitted in the Free Forum Area.

5. For safety reasons, the use of non-glass containers is encouraged for all beverages.

'Basic' education a high school job

WRITING A WELL-CONSTRUCTED sentence is an insurmountable task for many college students. Whose fault is it?

Experts have seldom agreed — until now, at least. The first state-mandated minimum requirements for high school graduation will take effect in 1990. The finger pointing will have to stop then, as high schools take a bigger share of the responsibility for giving students basic skills.

All Illinois public high schools will require three years of language arts, two years of social studies, two years of math, one year of science and one year of either art, music, foreign language or vocational education for graduation.

THESE REQUIREMENTS MAY sound vaguely familiar, for many high schools have been following similar standards on their own initiatives. But such high schools are not the targets of the legislation.

The schools that will be affected are those that have not set such standards and, as a result, have turned out students who are "deficient" in the college classroom. These are students who cannot write a well-constructed sentence without the help of a remedial class. These schools may have to alter their curriculum considerably to take up the slack in response to the new legislation.

This is the hope of the Illinois Board of Education — to place the responsibility of remedial teaching in the high school classroom, which is where it belongs.

AT PRESENT, WHEN students come academically ill-prepared to college, it usually falls upon the University to attempt to rectify the situation by making remedial courses and special-help centers available to them. In some ways remedial education hinders out the primary purpose of college study — that of higher education. The student is cheated out of much of that education by having to learn remedial knowledge before he or she can move on.

Remedial education on the college level does allow educationally disadvantaged students the opportunity and support to attain a higher education, and there should be a place for it. But the amount of students who need remedial help is questionable and needs to be addressed.

Recognizing the responsibility of the high school in the educational system is a decisive step in the the right direction to correcting educational deficiency in the state.

A lot of students may wish it had happened sooner.

Peace plan falters in Central America

The "war" conducted by the U.S.-funded Contras in Nicaragua often involves attacks on small towns or isolated cooperatives. The first line of defense for these communities is usually local men and women organized into a civilian militia. The Contras claim to be attacking military targets when these militia members pick up arms to defend their homes.

According to Witness For Peace volunteers (a non-violent, Christian-based volunteer organization in Nicaragua), in early August approximately 150 Contras attacked the small Atlantic coast town of Guapi. Sixty-five militia members fought for four hours preventing the Contras from entering the town. Fourteen militia members were killed and the five-year-old son of one member died when Contras fired into his house.

There are plenty of reasons to want peace in Central America, but simply slowing the human and economic loss created by attacks like these is a strong one. U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., has stated he wants to wait and see if the current peace process works. I suggest that if our leaders don't begin to work for peace by taking a stand against Contra aid now, we will not see any progress.

It is claimed that several Central American countries have fragile democracies. What really is fragile is the Central American-initiated peace plan. This is what deserves careful nurturing. — Georgeann Hartzog, Carbondale

Opinions from elsewhere

The Oregonian, Portland

The treaty signed by five Central American nations doesn't solve that region's problems. But as fragile as it is, it is a breakthrough of sorts because it offers a mutually agreed-to approach for ending the region's conflicts. The process it begins deserves U.S. support.

Should the objectives of this document — foremost among them the negotiated end to armed conflict — be achieved, legitimate U.S. foreign policy interests would be met. The paramount U.S. interest is peace in the region with the existing democracies protected against efforts to topple them.

True, the Sandanista regime would remain in place in Nicaragua, but a viable political opposition, and the freedom that implies, would also be provided under the treaty. The United States, which helped install and then later tolerated the brutal Simoza dictatorship in Nicaragua, is in no moral position to insist on a purer democracy than it tolerates in many other Latin American nations, including Mexico.

Dotson held in Cook County Jail for 5 parole violations in 2 years

CHICAGO (UPI) — Convicted rapist Gary Dotson will remain at Cook County Jail until state officials can hold a hearing to determine if Dotson violated his parole by getting arrested five times in the past two years, the Illinois Department of Corrections said Monday.

Dotson, 30, who made national news two years ago when Gov. James R. Thompson ordered his release from prison after the alleged rape victim recanted the charge, will remain incarcerated until the Illinois Prisoner Review Board holds the hearing within a week to 10 days, DOC spokesman Nic Howell said.

Dotson, who pleaded guilty to drunken-driving last March and was placed on a year's supervision, was ordered jailed by the DOC after his Aug. 2 arrest on a battery complaint filed by his wife, Camille.

The battery complaint and a violation of supervision charge that stemmed from his arrest were dropped by prosecutors last week after Camille Dotson told authorities she no longer wished to proceed with the case.

Dotson's attorney, Tom Breen, said he believed his client should immediately be released from Cook County Jail since the state dropped its prosecution of the battery charge.

But Howell said the DOC felt differently.

"On the advice of counsel we decided to keep him in jail until the (parole) hearing," Howell said.

Breen was not available to comment on the DOC decision.

Dotson, who met his wife when she presented him with a long-stem rose at the conclusion of his clemency hearing, could be sent back to prison if the review board determines his five arrests since 1985 constitute a violation of his parole, Howell said.

ADMISSIONS, from Page 1

The Illinois Board of Higher Education — prescribe four years of English; three years of mathematics; three years of laboratory science; three years of social studies; and two years of either art, music, a foreign language or vocational education for entering freshmen and students transferring from community colleges.

The IBHE requirements will cover all public colleges and universities in the state. But new admissions requirements for 1990 will vary from school to school. That may cause some confusion among prospective students. Pfaff said.

In an attempt to lessen the confusion, SIU-C admissions representatives will join representatives from 13 other Illinois colleges and universities to explain the new admissions requirements to the high school counselors. The meetings will begin Sept. 9. They will be held at both SIU campuses; Eastern Illinois University, in Charleston; Illinois State University, in Normal; Western Illinois University, in Macomb; and at several locations in the Chicago area, Pfaff said.

"I hope it (confusion) is limited," Pfaff said. "I think over time people will begin to understand what's going on."

However, Pfaff said, other problems may add to the confusion. One of those problems is deciding whether the classes a student took in high school actually fulfill admissions requirements.

"I think that certain classes — for instance, quasi-English classes — probably are not going to fly," Pfaff said.

John Huther, an IBHE spokesman, said the IBHE is working closely with the Illinois Board of Education to identify high school courses that fulfill the stricter admissions requirements. The Board of Education oversees elementary and secondary schools in the state.

Another problem, Pfaff said, is linked to the admission of students who do not fulfill the high school course requirements. According to IBHE guidelines, such students can be admitted "on a provisional basis" and take college courses that fulfill the admissions requirements.

The problem, Pfaff said, is with tracking the provisional students to make sure they fulfill the requirements. "We haven't addressed exactly how we're going to do that," he said.

Since the remedial courses taken by provisional students won't count toward general education requirements, recording the students' progress may be confusing, Pfaff said.

In addition, some high school students may have trouble finding the time to take all the courses required for college admission.

attack was "not helpful" and the United States has made Baghdad aware "of our deep concerns in this matter."

"Clearly, this is a time for restraint and it's not helpful now for Iraq to resume military action in the gulf," she said.

Iranian Revolutionary Guards aboard two Swedish-made speedboats fired two shoulder-mounted, rocket-propelled grenades and machine guns at the 2,000-ton Kuwaiti container ship Jebel Ali before dawn in waters off Umm al Qaiwan on the United Arab Emirates coast, sources in Dubai said.

None of the 32 mostly-Indian crewmen was hurt and only slight damage was reported above the water line from the first attack on a ship flying the Kuwaiti flag since the U.S. re-flagging and escort operation started in mid-July.

The ship was not being escorted by U.S. warships when it was hit as it sailed from Khor Fakhkan in Qatar, further up the gulf, to Dubai, 100 miles inside the Strait of Hormuz. Israel Radio quoted shipping sources as saying the Revolutionary Guards used Abu Musa Island north of Dubai as their base for the ambush.

About half of Kuwait's 22-tanker fleet is under the protection of U.S. warships and reporters Monday sighted a northbound convoy of re-flagged Kuwaiti ships and American escorts in another area of the Persian Gulf — off the Saudi Arabian coast.

Six U.S. Navy ships shepherded a convoy of at least two tankers north toward Kuwait in the largest escort mission since the United States began re-flagging and protecting tankers from the oil-rich emirate on July 20.

Police Blotter

The Jackson County State's Attorney issued a warrant Friday for the arrest of Michael A. Walls in connection with an aggravated criminal sexual assault that occurred Aug. 25. The victim is a 24-year-old Carbondale woman.

Carbondale police spokesman Neal Jacobson said Walls also is charged with aggravated battery and escape in Jefferson City, Mo.

Walls was arrested Aug. 29 at Varsity Video, 418 S. Illinois Avenue.

Police said Walls is in Jackson County Jail. Bond was set at $200,000.

About $1,500 worth of stereo equipment and a television set has been reported stolen from a Carbondale home, police said.

City police said the burglary occurred between 6:45 p.m. Thursday and 7:05 a.m. Friday at the home of Bruce Papers, 25, 503½ N. Oakland.

Student dies from injuries

An SIU-C student died Saturday evening from injuries received in a car accident in Murphysboro last week.

Ahmad Al-Abdullah, 27, died at 7:20 p.m. at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau. His body is being transferred to his native Kuwait, a spokeswoman from the hospital said.

Arrangements were made through the Kuwait embassy in Washington, D.C., and Ford and Sons funeral home in Cape Girardeau, a spokesman from the Cape County Coroner's Office said.

Al-Abdullah's auto ran off the road and struck a Central Illinois Public Service Company electrical pole last Tuesday, the Jackson County Sheriff's Office reported.

Al-Abdullah was observed traveling at a high rate of speed by a Jackson County deputy at 3:53 a.m. Tuesday before he struck the pole, police said. Al-Abdullah was traveling east on Old Route 13, two-tenths of a mile east of Route 127.

Al-Abdullah was transferred by helicopter from St. Joseph's Memorial Hospital in Murphysboro to the intensive care unit at Southeast Missouri Hospital, where he remained until his death.

The accident broke the pole and caused a power outage for about one hour, police said. Police said the accident is under investigation.

Suess reveals naked truth of Lady Godiva in reissue of old tale

By Curtis Winston
Entertainment Editor

The first published book by Theodor Suess Geisel, better known as Dr. Seuss, "The Seven Lady Godivas," has been reissued by Random House as a response to "multitudinous demand by children and grown-ups alike."

For anyone interested in history, "The Seven Lady Godivas" is an interesting and relaxing reading break. The book tells the story about what really happened in eleventh-century Coventry, England. There wasn't just one Lady Godiva, but seven sisters, all equally naked and riding horses.

Suess introduces us to Lady Godivas Clementina ("Teenie"), Dorcas J., Arabella, Mitzi, Lulu, Gussie and Hedwig. He also sets the record straight on the case of Peeping Tom. Suess insists there wasn't just one Peeping, but seven.

Just as in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," the Peeping brothers, Tom, Dick, Harry, Jack, Drexel, Sylvester, and Freinghuysen are each betrothed to a Godiva sister.

The story begins with Lord Godiva summoning his daughters to tell them he is going off to battle on horseback. On his way out of the castle he is thrown by his horse and killed — a bit of reality that is missing from other Suess books such as "Green Eggs and Ham" or the "Cat in the Hat."

In response, the seven Godivas take a solemn vow — they will not wed their Peeping boyfriends until each of the sisters has discovered a new and enlightening "Horse Truth" of benefit to all mankind.

Book Review

With the Godivas experimenting with horses to find "Horse Truths," Suess uncovers the true origins of wise anecdotes such as "Don't put the cart before the horse," as Lady Dorcas painfully discovers, and "Don't look a gift horse in the mouth" as Teenie Godiva also painfully realizes.

The language of the book introduces youngsters to an easy to read, yet elegant manner of speaking.

The book is masterfully illustrated by Suess and tastefully depicts the entirely nude Godiva sisters, giving them a variety of shapes, sizes and hair styles.

The language of the book introduces youngsters to an easy to read, yet elegant manner of speaking. It is unique from other Suess work in that it is written in prose.

An original 1939 copy of "The Seven Lady Godivas" is worth about $500. The reissue, which retails for $9.95, contains the same story and pictures as the original.

Iron and fabric 'unlikely mix' in art display

Work by area artists Bert Elliot-Francis and Kathleen Sanjabi will be exhibited today through Sept. 26 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday at the Associate Artists Gallery, 213 S. Illinois Ave.

The exhibit features the unlikely combination of fabric and iron. It is a display of contrasts — hard, dark iron works by Elliot-Francis and soft, colorful quilted paintings by Sanjabi.

While Elliot-Francis forges her images over a fire with a vice and hammer, Sanjabi collects hers with a camera on meditative strolls through orchid shows or iris fields. The public is invited to attend a special showing at the gallery on Friday evening from 6 to 8.

Hard-rocking Night Ranger blasts Fair-thrilled crowd

By Richard Nunez
Staff Writer

No gimmicks or explosions marked the Night Ranger concert Sunday night at the Du Quoin State Fair, just straight ahead, four-on-the-floor rock 'n' roll.

From the first song, "Big Life," to the last song, "Goodbye," the band kept a steady pace of hard-driving, exuberant music that absorbed the attention of the audience of approximately 5,500 people.

Jack Blades, bassist and one of two lead vocalists, bounced and bounded with limitless energy throughout the concert, except to tell a 10-minute story in which he insisted that American women were the most beautiful women in the world.

Highlights of the concert included the songs "Don't Tell Me You Love Me," "When You Close Your Eyes," "(You Can Still) Rock In America" and "Sister Christian," during which the audience was urged to sing the chorus.

The band is touring to support their new album "Big Life," which includes the single "Secret of My Success" from the Michael J. Fox movie of the same name.

Concert Review

Songs from the new album dominated the first half of the concert and were a solid continuation of the Night Ranger format, but when the band announced they would start playing old material, they met with mass approval from the audience.

Songs from the new album dominated the first half of the concert...but when the band announced they would start playing old material, they met with mass approval.

The band performed a welcome encore that included two songs, "(You Can Still) Rock In America," and "Goodbye," after which a fireworks show lit up the sky in the background.

Opening for Night Ranger was Great White, who did a good job of rousing the crowd, but their music was routine, unoriginal heavy metal that left something to be desired. The band ended their set with an awful version of the rock 'n' roll standard "Money (That's What I Want)," which had a lot of people guessing exactly what song they were playing until they began singing the words.

Flowers mark Ladies' Day at Fair

The first 1,000 women entering the Du Quoin State Fair Thursday, Sept. 3 after 4:30 p.m. will receive a carnation as part of Ladies' Day Activities.

The carnations, compliments of Erwin's Florists of Du Quoin and Pinckneyville and the Fair, is to show appreciation to the people who support the fair by attending, said Mike DuBois, fair manager.

"This is a promotion that has worked well at other facilities — particularly at race tracks," he said.

The 65th Du Quoin State Fair runs through Sept. 7.

A Tradition of Music Excellence Since 1891

It is a rare entertainment opportunity to experience a live performance of a world-renowned symphony orchestra in southern Illinois. But it is not the first time the Chicago Symphony has appeared at Shryock Auditorium: 1976 was the first, with Leonard Slatkin conducting. The second performance, in 1980, featured Aldo Ceccato, Guest Conductor. Chicago Symphony Orchestra Music Director Sir Georg Solti selected Kenneth Jean out of twelve candidates to take the post of Associate Conductor in 1986. Maestro Jean will conduct the third performance in the acoustically superb Shryock Auditorium. Conducting the Hong Kong Philharmonic, Kenneth Jean recorded an instant best seller, COLORFUL CLOUDS, which won two platinum records. He also serves as the Music Director of the Florida Symphony Orchestra.

The staff of Shryock Auditorium is grateful to the southern Illinois patrons who have previously supported this distinguished program through their generosity. Because it is such an ambitious venture, additional support is being sought. Contributors of $100 will be recognized as Honored Patrons. Their tax deductible donation will include two seats at this superlative performance, a fine reception, and the contributor's name published in the program.

Elevator accident mars return to work by S. African miners

WELKOM, South Africa (UPI) — An elevator accident in a gold mine shaft Monday killed at least eight miners and left 51 missing and feared dead as workers nationwide returned to their jobs on the first day after settlement of South Africa's costliest mine strike.

Operators of the General Mining Corp. initially reported an explosion in the No. 10 shaft of the St. Helena gold mine as a high-speed elevator was taking the last of 434 men employed in the shaft to work for the first full morning shift since the 21-day strike ended.

But mine director Gary Maude, who was supervising rescue operations, later said it was not certain there was an explosion.

Company officials in Johannesburg said a rescuer had reached the elevator Monday and found the bodies of eight men and five other miners alive in the shaft. Fifty-one other miners were missing and feared dead, they said. Maude said a rescuer was lowered 100 feet on a bosun's chair suspended from a rope to a pump station 2,300 feet underground.

"Five miners are alive," Maude told reporters. "The death toll there appears to be eight."

He said the rescuer reached the pump station about 13 hours after the accident, which could be the worst since 177 miners died in the world's worst gold-mine disaster last September.

Maude said an elevator cage thought to have been carrying the 51 missing miners may be buried under a pile of rubble and twisted steel at the bottom of the 4,500-foot shaft.

"I do not think there is much chance of any survival if the cage went to the bottom," he said.

The cage had a capacity to carry 82 people.

Maude said if there was an explosion, it may have been caused by methane gas, even though methane is rarely found in gold mines.

Mine officials had previously reported as many as 92 men missing in the accident. But officials later said men previously thought to be in the mine were at the surface and others were found in the mine unharmed.

Firefighters at the Welkom airport, 180 miles southwest of Johannesburg, said they had been placed on standby with climbing gear, but had not been called to the scene. Gencor spokesman Harry Hill said, "There is absolutely no evidence to suggest that this was sabotage."

Thai airliner crash kills 83

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — A Thai domestic airliner with 83 people aboard Monday nosedived into a bay off the southern resort island of Phuket after dodging a jetliner approaching the same airport. All those aboard were believed killed, officials said.

Marine police in Phuket, 430 miles south of Bangkok, said there were no known survivors from the Thai Airways Boeing 737, which crashed about 3:40 p.m. and included two Americans who boarded the plane at the last minute.

By night, rescuers recovered 12 bodies and other remains. Officials said boats with searchlights continued rescue operations, but there was little chance survivors would be found, which would make the crash Thailand's worst air accident.

The airline, in a statement issued nearly eight hours after the crash, said, "The latest reports from Phuket say it is believed all those aboard have perished."

Air Marshal Narong Tidjipheng, manager of Thai

Airways, told reporters in Bangkok the airlines jet swerved to avoid another Boeing 737 from Hong Kong's Dragonair airlines that was landing at Phuket at the same time.

"Phuket control tower said the Thai aircraft was trying to avoid a collision with a Dragonair flight as it was reducing altitude at 1,000 feet above sea level," Narong said. "The Dragonair plane landed safely but the Thai aircraft crashed into the sea."

Graduate student reception set

By Robert York
Staff Writer

A reception to acquaint new graduate and professional students with colleagues, administration, faculty, and groups from the campus and community will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 3.

The Graduate and Professional Student Council and the Student Program Council are sponsoring the 1987 Graduate and Professional Student Reception in Ballrooms A, B, and C of the Student Center.

Although the purpose of the reception is geared toward new students, the older grad and professional students are urged to attend as well, said Darrell Johnson, GPSC president.

A keynote address by John H. Yopp, graduate school dean, on the subject of the future of graduate education at the University is scheduled.

Representatives from various campus and community groups will be distributing information throughout the reception. Groups included are Office of Student Development, Student Work and Financial Assistance, Campus Ministries, Carbondale Convention and Tourism, and Student Health Program.

USO to hold Senate workshop

By Dona Schulte
Staff Writer

The Undergraduate Student Organization will hold a Senate workshop beginning at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The workshop, which will be in the Renaissance Room of the Student Center, will act as an ice-breaker and trial student senate meeting.

All student senators will be informed about their responsibilities as a student representative and about an updated format, John Attard, USO president, said.

Attard will give a presentation on member's responsibilities. These responsibilities will be acted upon during a mock senate meeting scheduled for the latter part of the workshop, around 8:15 p.m.

Prospective student senator meetings will begin Sept. 9. Topics of discussion will include fall tuition increases and the search for students to fill vacancies on various boards and committees.

Applications are being accepted and eligibility is being confirmed for the vacant positions. Official new representatives will be determined at the second senate meeting on Sept. 23.

Gold Wing riders to meet monthly

The Southern Illinois Wingers, Chapter Q of the Gold Wing Road Riders Association, will hold their monthly meeting 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Bonanza restaurant on Highway 13 west of Carbondale.

All interested Gold Wing riders are invited to attend. For details, call Russell Campbell, area representative, at 497-2503, or Charles Mallett, public relations officer, at 867-2920.

Fire-eating midget steals carnival show

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — A midget from Texas who eats fire, walks on broken glass and makes doves disappear was suspected of stealing a carnival sideshow — including a tent, two stages, a ticket box and a bullhorn, officials said. "Where do you look?" asked Don Staley, a St. Clair County sheriff's deputy. "Unless you see a little 2-foot-8-inch guy running around someplace — I guess you'd notice him if you see him."

Police also want to question the midget's 30-year-old brother, who is 5-feet-10-inches tall, weighs 130 pounds and is toothless, the deputy's report said.

Free-agent battle awaits final ruling

NEW YORK (UPI) — The arbitrator for major-league baseball will rule Sept. 21 on charges club owners have conspired to restrict free agency, it was announced Monday.

Arbitrator Tom Roberts discussed the issues Monday with the players' union and management. The parties said a resolution would be announced in three weeks.

"The meeting today was mostly procedural," said Barry Rona, executive director of the Player Relations Committee. "It was basically to decide logistics to issue the decision in the future."

Rona, who is representing the owners, said he does not believe the decision will have much effect on free agency.

I don't think, that win or lose, that the decision will have any impact on the clubs' behavior," he said. "They are committed to financial restraint. It will have limited significance as it will give some guidelines for us in respect to free agency."

A representative for Donald Fehr, executive director of the Players Association, declined to comment on Monday's meeting.

The crux of the dispute concerns two sentences at the end of the free-agency rules in baseball's Basic Agreement:

"The utilization or non-utilization of (free-agency) rights is an individual matter to be determined solely by each player and each club for his or its own benefit. Players shall not act in concert with other players and clubs shall not act in concert with other clubs."

The union claims the owners are working together to stifle the free-agent market. It filed a grievance Feb. 3, 1986 on behalf of the 63 players in the 1985-86 class of free agents.

Another grievance, against charging collusion, was filed for the 1986-87 class. That case is being handled by another arbitrator, George Nicolau.

In August of last year, the owners fired Roberts. They were unhappy the arbitrator ruled for the union in a case concerning drug-testing clauses in contracts.

The union claims the owners fired Roberts because they were losing the collusion case. Roberts was eventually reinstated but the incident delayed the final ruling.

In 1976, arbitrator Peter Seitz created free agency when he voided the reserve clause, under which players were bound to teams unless they were traded or released. Pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally were granted free agency.

The decision had a profound effect on baseball. Players were able to sell their talents to the highest bidder. Wealthy owners like George Steinbrenner of the New York Yankees and Gene Autry of the California A gels stocked top players. Salaries skyrocketed from an average of $51,501 in 1976 to $41,520 last year. Baseball attendance records were set.

After the 1985 season, the free-agent market dried up. The union claims the owners are acting in concert to hold down salaries.

Commissioner Peter Ueberroth claims the owners are practicing "fiscal responsibility."

The most blatant example of collusion, the union charges, involves Detroit outfielder Kirk Gibson, who helped lead the Tigers to the World Series title in 1984.

A year later he hit 29 home runs and drove in 97 runs and became a free agent. He received no offers and was forced to re-sign with the Tigers.

for other teams.

— The union seeks larger guaranteed contracts and greater contribution from management to the players' pension fund.

— Management wants a restrictive rookie salary scale and mandatory random drug testing for all players.

NFL contract expires, 1,600 players affected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The NFL's five-year collective bargaining agreement with its players expires at midnight Monday, leaving some 1,600 players without a contract two weeks before the season.

The nine-member executive committee of the NFL Players Association met Monday at the union's Washington headquarters and was expected to announce a strike deadline later in the day.

Ninety-four percent of the players voted in May to authorize union leadership to call a strike date if it believed a walkout was warranted.

The Players Association and NFL Management Council, the league's negotiating unit, have not held a bargaining session since Aug. 14.

The current agreement settled the 57-day strike that erased seven weeks of the 1982 season and cost the league's 28 teams a reported $200 million. It was the first walkout to interrupt a regular season.

Several major issues separate the parties:

— The union demands unrestrained free agency allowing a player whose contract has expired to play the scouts are looking for."

Although the offense's strength is the running game, Dorr described the line as "excellent pass protectors." He added that running backs must share the responsibility of protecting the quarterback.

"Pass protection is like an orchestrated, musical effect when everybody's in coordination," Dorr said.

Mike Michaels, offensive coordinator, said the offense will use a third tackle, most likely Renaud, when they get near the goal line.

Dorr said the offensive line has played well in practice.

Smith agreed, but adds there is still room for improvement.

"There are days when we get in a game situation and we don't do as well as we should," Smith said. "We have to realize we have to come out and eliminate mistakes. There are a few bugs that we have to iron out before the games, but I think the line is pretty sound."

"The thing we have to work on is coming off the ball, because the last two scrimmages we didn't do that too well," he said.

Smith said the line is a tight group and "when there is a problem, instead of complaining about each other, we're working together to get things done."

Although Saluki linemen may get overshadowed on the field, they don't get overlooked by professional scouts. In 1986, center Tom Baugh was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs. This year tackle Ralph Van Dyke was chosen by the Atlanta Falcons.

Bulgarian jumper captures gold

ROME (UPI) — American triple jumper Mike Conley says Kristo Markov of Bulgaria has two bad habits — he smokes a pack of cigarettes a day and is much too tough to beat in Europe.

Markov, a bushy-haired native of Sofia, captured the gold medal in the triple jump with the second-best leap in history Monday at the World Track and Field Championships.

His only loss of breath appeared to come from the thrill of leaping 58 feet, 9 1/2 inches (17.92 meters).

Jackie Joyner-Kersey of the United States also had an exciting day, winning three of the four events on the first day of the heptathlon. She is ahead of the pace that netted her the world record last August.

Joining Markov as gold-medal recipients were on a relatively quiet third day of the nine-day meet were Olga Bryzina of the Soviet Union in the 400 meters, Sigrun Wodars of East Germany in the 800 and Martina Hellmann of East Germany in the discus.

The East Germans collected six medals in the three women's finals, and they led all countries with 10 overall.

Markov gave the subdued crowd of 45,000 at Olympic Stadium — perhaps still recovering from Sunday's excitement of Ben Johnson's world record in the 100 meters — something to cheer about with his winning triple jump.

The 58-9 1/2 effort came on his fourth attempt and enabled him to surpass his European record of 58-4 3/4 (17.80m). Only American Willie Banks, eliminated in qualifying Sunday, has a better effort (58 11 1/2 or 17.97m).

didn't know she was coming to SIU-C," Illner said.

Wulkop has been playing field hockey for sports clubs in West Germany since she was 8 or 9 years old, Illner said. Wulkop has played at the highest level of the sport in West Germany, she said.

Another bright spot is the preseason play of freshman Cas Dickerson at the sweeper position.

Intramural sports

Deadlines are approaching for a few more intramural sports.

Today is the deadline for soccer and a captains meeting is set for 4 p.m.

The last date to sign up for 12-inch softball is Wednesday, with a captains meeting set for 4 p.m. Both captains meetings will be in Room 158 of the Center.

Soccer and softball begin play next week.

The disc golf tournament is scheduled for Wednesday, and will take place on the East side of the Recreation Center. Individuals can sign up on site and play will start at 4 p.m.

Tennis and badminton singles have a sign-up deadline at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

The people interested in the 18-hole golf tournament should sign up by 10 p.m. Thursday. The activity will be held at Green Acres Golf Club Sept. 9. Individuals must pay for their own green fee.

Veteran gridders aid offensive line

Experience, size helps to anchor griddier offense

By Dave Miller
Staff Writer

Offensive linemen — overshadowed by quarterbacks, running backs and receivers — perform their job in relative obscurity.

Linemen seem to receive their moment in the spotlight only when the center makes a bad snap, the left tackle is penalized for holding or the right guard allows his man to sack the quarterback.

But it's up to this year's offensive line to pave the way for a strong Saluki running game.

Veteran tackle Dave Smith anchors the offensive line, a line that has an edge in experience and size against most of their opponents.

Three returning starters help provide a solid foundation for the linemen, who average 6 feet 4 inches in height and weigh in at around 260.

Head coach Ray Dorr said he was pleased that the entire offensive line came to fall practice in excellent condition, with every member of the line able to run the mile in less than the 6:30 limit.

Jansons, a junior, received limited playing last season because of injuries.

Grammar started at center every game last season as a freshman. Gary Masta walked on last year as a freshman and could see some time behind Grammar, Dorr said.

Mason, a junior, starts at right guard, but junior Steve Volini may also get some playing time, Dorr said.

A 6-foot, 270-pound standout,

Smith starts as right tackle for his fourth straight year.

"He has exceptional size, moves his feet well, and has great upper body strength," Dorr said. "He is exactly what

King picked as QB for Saturday's opener

By Bill West
Staff Writer

The selection of the Salukis' starting quarterback was made without head football coach Ray Dorr bruising any tender egos.

Junior quarterback Kevin Brown will miss too much practice time this week to be ready for the home-opener against Delta State, Dorr said.

Brown's foot was stepped on late in the scrimmage Saturday and he's been hobbling about ever since, but his foot is not broken, Dorr said.

"Something drastic would have to happen for Pat King not to get the start Saturday. King has worked hard and deserves to start," Dorr said.

Knowing he starts Saturday may help King relax and perform like he did against Murray State last year when he threw three touchdown passes and rushed for 73 yards in his first start of the year as the Salukis hammered the Racers 31-6.

Preparing the offensive game plan should be a little easier because King will get a lot of work in before Saturday, Dorr said.

The head coach sees the Saluki quarterback situation as an advantage for the Statesmen.

"They probably have more film on King because he played more games than Brown did last year."

Fred Gibson, freshman quarterback from Benton, moves up to number two on the depth chart and is slated to back up King Saturday.

"Fred did some good work in the scrimmage last Saturday," the coach said.

Senior cornerback Ira Davis will miss six to eight weeks after breaking a bone in his foot Saturday.

The question for Davis is, does he want to be red-shirted. "It is a decision that he will make," Dorr said. If Davis is red-shirted he will still have a year of eligibility remaining.

Defensive backs Gussie Jones and Tim Spencer will handle the cornerback position in Davis' absence.

The players and coaches elected senior offensive linemen Rob Howe and Dave Smith, along with senior linebackers Mike Carbonaro and Esell Shelton, to be team captains for the 1987 Salukis.

Field hockey match today; coach to count on recruits

By Bill West
Staff Writer

An inexperienced Saluki field hockey team opens the 1987 schedule 2 p.m. today against the University of Toledo Rockets at Stehr Field.

"None of today's starters was a full-time player last year," coach Julie Illner said.

Illner's squad lost eight starters to graduation. They were responsible for 21 of 23 goals scored by the Salukis last fall.

There has been good news and bad news during preseason practice for the veteran coach of 18 seasons. The bad news first.

The team's field general and top returning player, sophomore Wendy Darius, is out for the season. She had surgery Friday to repair a torn anterior ligament in her knee.

"The knee injury to Wendy is a very big blow to us," Illner said. We were really counting on her speed, stickwork and game sense, she said. Darius will be one of the Salukis' all-time best field hockey players, Illner said.

Julie Mayor, junior halfback and team co-captain, will miss two to three weeks of action because she sprained her knee this summer at an Olympic development training camp. Mayor was named to the all-tournament team at the Chris Dickerson, freshman midfielder, will miss today's game because of tendinitis in her knee.

Cindy Opperman, the team's only returning scorer, isn't exactly the picture of perfect health. Opperman, a sophomore forward, is slowed by a knee injury incurred during the indoor spring season. "It's been a bad few weeks for knees," Illner said.

But the news hasn't been all bad for the Salukis.

Illner said the arrival of foreign exchange student Marianne Wulkoop is "a miracle from heaven."

"She got off the plane carrying her hockey stick. I
